In nursery, we do Philosophy for Children (P4C). This is great for supporting the children's Oracy skills. The children are learning to say, for example "I think... because..." We teach the children that in Philosophy there are no right or wrong answers and having different opinions is great.

Our P4C groups involve the teacher acting out a story with puppets or teddies. Then we have a conversation about the story. This week's topic was cooperation. We learnt what cooperation means and discussed when it was or wasn't OK for the teddies to cooperate.

Christmas prep!

The children have been really busy learning and rehearsing their Christmas songs. They are so excited to perform them to you!

I would also like to give a special mention to Eddie, who has been impressing me with his maths knowledge this week! He told me "I've made a rectangle. It is 5 x 9. That's 45!". Well done Eddie!
